Such revocation may be issued without prior notice to the licensee, provided such temporary suspension shall not exceed a period of ten (10) consecutive business days. Successive temporary suspensions shall not be made without affording the licensee a hearing as provided in the preceding section.
- (E) In the event a Hauler's license is revoked, no new Hauler's license shall, within a period of one year thereafter, be issued to the licensee or any company controlled by the licensee or having any common equity owner who held any interest in the licensee whose license was revoked.
